

WrestleVersary: 2026

April 25, 2026 | Pennhurst Asylum - Spring City

Going Live at Pennhurst

A low, ominous hum rolls over the darkened grounds of Pennhurst Asylum in Spring City, Pennsylvania. The camera glides across the crumbling gothic structure--windows like hollow eyes, the wind whispering through broken stone--before cutting to a wide aerial shot of thousands in attendance, packed tightly around the haunting landmark.

Suddenly--

BOOM!

Pyro erupts violently into the night sky, cascading in silver and crimson bursts that reflect off the asylum's decayed walls. Flames shoot upward in timed succession, rattling the steel staging as the crowd roars in anticipation.

Cut to ringside.

The camera settles on the commentary desk where Salmia "Mia" Russo, Ginnifer "Gidget" Stevenson, and Danny Greene Jr. sit shoulder-to-shoulder, joined tonight by Assault's own Joey Black. The energy is electric, but there's an undercurrent of tension--this place has a reputation, and everyone feels it.

Mia Russo:

"Ladies and gentlemen... welcome to WrestleVersary 2026! We are coming to you LIVE from one of the most chilling locations imaginable--Pennhurst Asylum!"

Gidget Stevenson:

"Two nights. Two unforgettable chapters. History will be written, championships will be decided, and careers may never be the same after what we're about to witness."

Danny Greene Jr.:

"This isn't just an event--it's a proving ground. The best of Ward and Assault collide under one roof, and by the end of Night Two, nothing will look the same."

Joey Black:

"And if you think you've seen chaos before... you haven't seen anything yet. Assault didn't come here to coexist--we came here to take over."

The camera cuts to the ring.

WrestleVersary: 2026

Standing at center is Stephany Mullins, microphone in hand, poised and confident under the spotlight as she prepares to handle ring announcing duties in place of Song Teng.

Stephany Mullins:

"Ladies and gentlemen... welcome to Night One of the most anticipated event of the year...
WRESTLEVERSARY 2026!"

The crowd erupts again, a thunderous wave echoing through the night.

Suddenly--

The lights dim.

The pyro smoke still lingers in the air... and then--

Silence.

A long, heavy, unnatural silence.

No commentary. No crowd noise beyond a faint murmur. Just the wind brushing against the asylum walls.

Then--

The opening chords of "Asylum" by Disturbed slice through the darkness.

The crowd reaction is immediate--loud, chaotic, and uncertain all at once.

The camera cuts between the commentators, each reacting differently.

Mia Russo (quietly):

"...Here we go."

The stage lights begin to flicker erratically--white, then red, then darkness again--casting distorted shadows across the entrance ramp.

The music swells.

Something--or someone--is about to emerge.

And WrestleVersary 2026 has officially begun.

WrestleVersary: 2026

The Boss Returns

The haunting echo of "Ain't No Grave" fades into a tense, uneasy silence.

The camera lingers on the stage... nothing.

Then--

The lights snap violently.

Darkness.

A low electrical buzz crackles through the air as the entire arena flickers in erratic bursts. The crowd murmurs, confusion building--

Suddenly--

The stage is drenched in deep crimson light, washing over the set like spilled blood.

"Step Up" by Drowning Pool BLASTS through the public address system.

The reaction is immediate--loud, explosive, electric.

At the top of the stage--

A silhouette appears.

Broad-shouldered. Still. Unshaken.

Then he steps forward into the red glow.

"The HardK0re Ik0n" Charlie Feigel.

Dressed in black--combat boots striking the stage with purpose--his presence alone shifts the energy in the building. His eyes scan the crowd, then drift past them... toward the asylum behind.

Mia Russo:

"...Wait a second--wait a second! That's--!"

Danny Greene Jr.:

"He's back."

Joey Black (shaking his head):

WrestleVersary: 2026

"Business just picked up in a dangerous way."

Charlie doesn't rush. He walks with deliberate intent down the ramp, jaw clenched, tension radiating off of him. The crimson lighting follows every step, pulsing in sync with the music.

He reaches ringside.

Pauses.

Looks around.

Then slides into the ring.

Stephany Mullins quickly exits, sensing what's coming.

Charlie stands alone in the center of the ring as the music cuts abruptly.

The crowd buzzes--anticipation thick.

He slowly raises a microphone.

A brief pause.

Then--

Charlie Feigel:

"...I know what you're thinking."

A faint smirk. Gone just as quickly.

Charlie:

"Where the hell have I been?"

Mixed reactions ripple through the crowd.

He exhales, nodding slightly.

Charlie:

"I'll tell you exactly where I've been... I've been watching. I've been recovering. And I've been waiting."

His tone sharpens.

Charlie:

WrestleVersary: 2026

"And yeah... I'm sorry I've been away for so long."

A beat.

Then his voice drops--cold, controlled.

Charlie:

"But now I'm back..."

He steps forward.

Charlie:

"And there is hell to pay."

The crowd erupts.

Charlie (intensifying):

"And I'm here... to collect."

He turns slowly, scanning every section of the arena.

Charlie:

"You know who I'm talking about."

His eyes narrow.

Charlie:

"The ones who keep jumping me. The ones who think hiding behind masks... hiding in dark hoodies... makes them untouchable."

He scoffs.

Charlie:

"Cowards."

A strong reaction from the crowd.

Charlie:

"If I had to guess... if I had to call it..."

He points outward into the sea of people... then up toward the shadows near the stage, the rafters, the asylum beyond.

WrestleVersary: 2026

Charlie:

"You're here. Right now."

The camera cuts to darkened corners, uneasy fans, shifting shadows.

Charlie (raising his voice):

"Watching from the shadows like you always do."

He nods, almost amused.

Charlie:

"You thought those attacks were gonna keep me gone?"

A sharp laugh.

Charlie:

"All you did... was make me hungrier."

He pounds his chest once.

Charlie:

"You made me chomp at the bit to get back here--back to my company--on the biggest stage of the year!"

The crowd roars.

Charlie (firm, commanding):

"So here's what we're gonna do."

He plants his feet in the center of the ring.

Charlie:

"I'm putting it out there. Right now."

A pause.

Charlie:

"An open challenge."

The tension spikes instantly.

Charlie:

"To any one of you masked, hiding, shadow-crawling cowards--"

WrestleVersary: 2026

He gestures wide.

Charlie:

"Come out here. Face me. Man to man."

He lowers the mic slightly, eyes locked on the entrance.

Charlie:

"No more sneak attacks. No more hiding."

A beat.

Charlie (quiet, dangerous):

"Show yourself."

Silence.

Nothing.

The crimson lights continue to pulse.

Charlie waits.

...Five seconds.

...Ten.

No response.

He smirks again--but this time, there's no humor in it.

He slowly lowers the microphone...

...and lets it drop.

THUD.

The sound echoes.

Without another word, Charlie turns and steps through the ropes.

Mia Russo:

"...He's not even waiting?!"

WrestleVersary: 2026

Charlie hops down to the floor.

No hesitation.

No glance back.

He strides straight up the ramp, passing through the crimson haze as "Step Up" faintly resumes underneath the moment.

Danny Greene Jr.:

"He came back for a fight--and if they're not coming to him..."

Joey Black:

"...He's going hunting."

Charlie reaches the top of the stage, disappearing behind the curtain without breaking stride.

The camera lingers on the empty ring.

The dropped microphone.

The lingering red glow.

And the unsettling feeling--

That this is far from over.

The Family of the Sinister One vs. Centre of Attention

The camera fades in on the towering double-cage structure surrounding two rings--steel enclosing steel. The crowd rises as the atmosphere shifts from anticipation to dread.

Mia Russo:

"This... is WarGames."

Danny Greene Jr.:

"Two rings. One cage. No escape. And tonight--eight competitors willing to do anything to survive."

Joey Black:

"And once all participants are inside... the match officially begins. Until then? It's just controlled chaos."

WrestleVersary: 2026

WARGAMES

The Family of the Sinister One

(Sammy the Creep, Il Monstro Oscuro, The Giver & Melizza the Terror)

CRACK.

Chair shot to Sammy.

Another to Monstro.

Danny Greene Jr.:

"That's the equalizer they needed!"

Hurst swings again--Monstro barely budes.

Monstro grabs the chair--

Bends it.

The crowd erupts.

Entrant #5: The Giver

The Giver enters slowly--calm, unsettling.

He carries a chain.

He wraps it around his fist--

And immediately targets Hurst.

CHAIN STRIKE to the ribs.

Hurst drops.

Croft tries to intervene--

Another chain shot.

WrestleVersary: 2026

Now the numbers favor The Family again.

Entrant #6: Olympia Waybright

Olympia charges in--fire in her eyes.

She springboards between the rings--

Dropkick to The Giver.

Then a spinning back elbow to Sammy.

She moves fast--keeping all three opponents off balance.

Mia Russo:

"Olympia is fighting like everything's on the line--because it is!"

Entrant #7: Melizza the Terror

The lights dim briefly--

Then Melizza enters.

Cold. Focused. Dangerous.

She brings a kendo stick--

And immediately cracks it across Olympia's back.

Then again.

And again.

Olympia refuses to stay down--but the damage is mounting.

Final Entrant #8: Desiree Forte

The final buzzer hits.

Desiree Forte storms in--

WrestleVersary: 2026

And now--

The War Unleashed

All eight collide.

No order. No structure. Just violence.

- Croft and Monstro crash through the ropes between rings.
- Hurst and The Giver brawl with chain and broken chair pieces.
- Olympia and Melizza trade strikes with brutal intensity.
- Desiree dives off the top rope with a crossbody onto multiple opponents.

Joey Black:

"This is absolute carnage!"

Blood and Brutality

The cage becomes a weapon.

Faces are driven into steel.

Bodies slammed into unforgiving metal.

Croft climbs halfway up the cage--

Leaps with a diving elbow onto Monstro.

The ring shakes.

Desiree and Olympia double-team Melizza--

WrestleVersary: 2026

Double suplex across both rings' seam.

Hurst gets wrapped in the chain--The Giver choking him, dragging him across the mat.

Sammy the Creep laughs as he bites at Croft's forehead, reopening the wound.

Mia Russo:

"This is hard to watch--there's blood everywhere!"

The Breaking Point

Monstro rises again--unstoppable.

He grabs Hurst--

Powerbomb into the cage wall.

The steel rattles violently.

Melizza locks in a submission on Olympia--twisting her arm unnaturally.

Desiree tries to break it--

Sammy intercepts--dragging her down.

The Family isolates their opponents.

Systematic.

Brutal.

The Finish

Croft rallies--fighting through blood loss--taking Sammy down with a desperation lariat.

But The Giver strikes from behind--

Chain wrapped around Croft's throat.

Monstro holds him in place.

WrestleVersary: 2026

Melizza knocks Desiree out of the way.

Hurst tries to stand--

Sammy pulls him down.

Croft fades--

The referee checks--

No response.

The Family stands.

Sammy the Creep kneels beside Croft--smiling through blood.

Il Monstro Oscuro stands tall--unshaken.

The Giver slowly unwraps the chain.

Melizza the Terror looks out at the crowd--expression cold.

Danny Greene Jr.:

"They didn't just win... they dismantled them."

Mia Russo:

"I don't know how Centre of Attention comes back from this."

Joey Black:

"That's the point. The Family doesn't want them to."

WrestleVersary: 2026

The final shot lingers--

The cage.

The carnage.

And The Family of the Sinister One standing dominant--

As WarGames leaves nothing behind but destruction.

Boone Carter vs. David Stryker

The broadcast returns to ringside where the tension has reset--but the intensity hasn't dropped. The crowd buzzes as two very different competitors prepare to collide.

Mia Russo:

"We've seen chaos all night, but this one feels personal. Boone Carter and David Stryker--two men with very different styles, but the same goal."

Danny Greene Jr.:

"Boone brings raw power. David Stryker brings precision and grit. This is going to come down to who can impose their game first."

Joey Black:

"And if Boone lands that Western Lariat... it's over. Simple as that."

Boone Carter vs. David Stryker

The bell rings.

They circle cautiously at first--Stryker light on his feet, Boone grounded and steady.

Stryker strikes first--quick leg kick, then another, trying to chop down the bigger man early. Boone barely reacts.

Stryker darts in--jab, forearm, quick combination--

Boone absorbs it--

Then fires back with a heavy right hand that stops Stryker cold.

WrestleVersary: 2026

Gidget Stevenson:

"That's the difference--one shot from Boone changes everything!"

Danny Greene Jr.:

"That's the opening Stryker needed!"

Stryker slides back in--waits--

Boone staggers through the ropes--

Springboard dropkick!

WrestleVersary: 2026

Boone goes down.

Stryker quickly capitalizes--

Chop block from behind.

Another.

He locks in a grounded hold, trying to slow the powerhouse down.

Mia Russo:

"Smart strategy--take away Boone's base, you take away that lariat!"

Boone grits through it--reaching--

He powers up--

Breaks free with sheer strength and shoves Stryker off.

The Turning Point

Stryker charges--

Boone catches him--

Massive powerslam.

Both men are down briefly.

The crowd begins to rally behind Boone.

He rises first.

WrestleVersary: 2026

Boone blocks it.

The Finish

Eyes locked.

The crowd knows.

Joey Black:

"Oh no... here it comes..."

Stryker turns--

BOONE CARTER EXPLODES FORWARD--

WESTERN LARIAT.

Full force.

Devastating.

Stryker is turned inside out on impact.

Silence for half a second--

Then the crowd erupts.

Winner -- Boone Carter

Ring Announcer:

"Your winner... by pinfall... BOONE CARTER!"

WrestleVersary: 2026

Aftermath

Boone sits back on his heels, breathing heavy but composed.

Stryker lies motionless for a moment before slowly rolling to his side, clearly feeling the effects.

Mia Russo:

"He warned everyone--that lariat ends matches. And tonight proved it again."

Danny Greene Jr.:

"Stryker had the right strategy, but Boone only needed one opening."

Joey Black:

"And when Boone Carter gets that opening... you don't get back up."

Boone rises to his feet, looking out at the crowd as his hand is raised.

One decisive strike.

One definitive victory.

And another statement made.

Tetsuzan vs. Blackthorne

The lights dim to a low, ominous glow as the camera centers on the ring.

At ringside sits a solid steel-reinforced casket, matte black with iron clasps--its interior lined but already scarred, as if it's seen violence before tonight.

Standing inside the ring--

Tall. Silent. Unmoving.

AWS Legend Necra Octavian Kane, dressed in black, gloved hands folded behind her back. Her presence alone shifts the tone from competition... to judgment.

Mia Russo:

"This is Grave Consequences. The only way to win is to put your opponent in that casket... and close the lid."

Danny Greene Jr.:

WrestleVersary: 2026

"And with Necra Octavian Kane officiating? You know there's going to be no mercy. No leniency."

Joey Black:

"This isn't a match. This is a burial."

Danny Greene Jr.:

"That wasn't just a victory--that was a burial."

Necra Octavian Kane stares at Tetsuzan for a long moment--

Then gives a slow, almost approving nod.

Tetsuzan doesn't celebrate.

He simply looks down at the casket--

Then turns--

And walks away.

The camera lingers on the closed lid...

Still.

Silent.

Final.

As the scene fades to black.

WrestleVersary: 2026

The War Gods vs. Battle Beasts

The camera cuts back to ringside where the atmosphere has shifted from eerie to explosive. The crowd is on its feet as four men stand ready in opposite corners.

Mia Russo:

"After what we just witnessed inside Pennhurst Asylum, I don't even know how you follow that--but this might be the way to do it."

Danny Greene Jr.:

"You want power? You want destruction? This is it. Two of the most dangerous teams in AWS colliding right now."

Joey Black:

"And I'll tell you right now--this doesn't stay contained to the ring."

The War Gods vs. Battle Beasts

The bell rings.

And there's no feeling-out process.

Ares and DeadMarsh collide instantly in the center of the ring--forearms smashing like battering rams. On the other side, Odin grabs Balístico and launches him across the ring with a thunderous overhead throw.

AWS Convergence Championship.

Mia Russo:

"This championship is all about adaptability--who can adjust, who can survive, who can outthink their opponent in real time."

Danny Greene Jr.:

"And these two couldn't be more different. Mike Dimter is calculated, technical, always one step ahead. Wild Willey? He's chaos in human form."

Result: Double Pinfall

Bell rings.

The referee pauses--confused--then signals.

Ring Announcer:

"Ladies and gentlemen... this match has been ruled a DOUBLE PINFALL!"

Aftermath

The crowd erupts in mixed reactions--shock, confusion, disbelief.

Mia Russo:

"Wait--what?! Both men had their shoulders down!"

Danny Greene Jr.:

"That's as close as it gets--neither man could separate themselves!"

Dimter rolls to one side, clutching his neck.

Willey lies on his back, staring at the lights.

The referee tries to explain--pointing to both men, signaling the simultaneous count.

Joey Black:

"So what happens now? Who's the champion?"

The camera cuts to the championship belt at ringside--

Unclaimed in this moment.

Neither man standing.

Neither man victorious.

And no clear answer.

The screen lingers on both competitors laid out side by side--

WrestleVersary: 2026

A match with no definitive winner--

And a championship now surrounded by uncertainty.

Silver Baron © vs. Kemal Yilmaz vs. Orphius Marius ©

The camera returns to ringside where the tension is thick and unmistakable. A steel table sits near the timekeeper's area--lined with towels and medical kits. A reminder of what's to come.

Mia Russo:

"This is going to be hard to watch. First blood rules--no pinfalls, no submissions. The first man to bleed... loses."

Danny Greene Jr.:

"And with three competitors, your odds double. You don't just have to survive--you have to avoid being the first to break."

Joey Black:

"And with these three? That's almost impossible."

Triple Jeopardy First Blood Match

Silver Baron (c) vs. Kemal Yilmaz vs. Orphius Marius

The champion, Silver Baron, stands composed, eyes sharp beneath the glare of the lights. Kemal Yilmaz paces like a coiled spring, jaw clenched. Across from both, Orphius Marius remains eerily calm--unmoving, almost detached.

The referee raises his hand--

Bell rings.

Opening Exchange

No hesitation.

Kemal Yilmaz charges first--driving straight into Silver Baron with a double-leg takedown, unloading stiff right hands. Orphius doesn't rush in. He circles... watching... waiting.

Gidget Stevenson:

WrestleVersary: 2026

"Orphius is picking his moment. He's not wasting energy."

Silver Baron shoves Kemal off and rolls to his feet--but Orphius strikes.

A sudden, precise forearm catches Baron flush.

Kemal returns with a spinning back elbow that clips Orphius.

Now all three collide--strikes flying in tight quarters.

Targeting the Face

Silver Baron adapts quickly--he knows the stakes.

He rakes Kemal's forehead across the top rope, dragging him back and forth with calculated brutality.

Mia Russo:

"That's exactly what you do--target the skin, target the brow!"

Orphius pulls Baron away and drives him face-first into the turnbuckle. Then again. And again.

Kemal wipes at his forehead--checking for blood--

Nothing yet.

The First Close Call

Kemal Yilmaz explodes back into the fight--grabbing Orphius and launching him overhead with a release suplex.

He turns--

Orphius Marius rises again--methodical.

He pulls Kemal off Baron and delivers a sharp combination--body shot, elbow, then a snap DDT that spikes Kemal's head.

Kemal roars, fighting through it.

Still--

No blood.

Escalation

Silver Baron re-enters with urgency--catching Orphius with a jumping knee.

He grabs Orphius--

Face-first slam into the ring post.

A sickening impact.

The crowd gasps.

Orphius stumbles back--

The referee checks--

Still nothing.

Joey Black:

"I don't know how he's not busted open!"

WrestleVersary: 2026

Kemal Yilmaz returns with raw aggression--lifting Baron into a powerbomb position--

RUNNING POWERBOMB INTO THE TURNBUCKLE.

Baron slumps.

Kemal charges again--

SECOND KNEE STRIKE--direct to the face.

Baron drops to the mat.

Kemal grabs his head--

Rubbing it hard against the canvas, trying to force the break--

Mia Russo:

"This has to do it!"

The referee checks--

Nothing.

The frustration is building.

The Turning Point

Orphius Marius slowly rises again.

Blood isn't on his face--but something has changed in his eyes.

He steps forward--

Grabs Kemal--

Brutal headbutt.

Then another.

WrestleVersary: 2026

Then another.

Kemal staggers.

Orphius turns--

Grabs Silver Baron--

Pulls him in close--

DEVASTATING HEADBUTT.

The crack echoes.

The crowd reacts--half shock, half awe.

The Finish

A thin line at first--then more--running from above Baron's eye.

Bell rings.

Result: Orphius Marius Wins (First Blood)

Ring Announcer:

"Ladies and gentlemen... the winner of the match... ORPHIUS MARIUS!"

Aftermath

Kemal Yilmaz drops to one knee, breathing heavily, staring at the fallen champion in disbelief.

WrestleVersary: 2026

Danny Greene Jr.:

"All that punishment... and it comes down to one moment."

Mia Russo:

"One strike. One opening. That's all it takes."

Orphius stands over Silver Baron--expression unchanged, almost emotionless.

The referee checks on Baron as blood continues to flow, staining the canvas beneath him.

Joey Black:

"He didn't rush. He didn't panic. He waited... and when the moment came--he ended it."

Orphius slowly raises his head, eyes locked forward--not on the fallen champion... but somewhere beyond.

Focused.

Calculating.

Dangerous.

The camera tightens on the bloodied face of Silver Baron... then back to Orphius Marius standing tall--

The victor of a match where survival meant everything--

And one drop of blood meant defeat.
